REVELSTOKE LOOKING FOR CONSTRUCTION OF NEW HIGHWAY IN 1939

Expect Big Bend Machinery Will Be Moved To Nakusp-Arrowhead

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Dec. 5.—

With completion of a survey of the uncompleted road link between Arrowhead and Nakusp, Revelstoke is looking for large scale construction on this new highway next spring. It is taken for granted in circles close to the government that much of the road machinery now in use on the Big Bend Highway will be moved to the south project just as soon as it is no longer needed on the northern connection.

The completion of the 34-mile highway, will bring Revelstoke within five hours of Nelson and a day's drive from Spokane. The new road, of which some 23 miles will be new construction, will prove an important feeder for the Big Bend Highway and open up possibilities for numerous tourist loops in the Interior.

Cement work on the new City Hall and Fire Hall has been completed and interior finishing has commenced. Aided by excellent weather, the contractors made record time with the erection of the building. It is just two months since the sod was broken for foundation excavation.

SKI TOURNAMENT

Chris Rutherford, president of the Revelstoke Ski Club, has been recently in Vancouver in connection with the big ski tournament to be held in Revelstoke next February. Mr. Rutherford found the Coast decidedly interested in the big event, which will include the Western Canada championships and induce competition from widely scattered parts of the west. It is an almost assured fact that a special train will be run from Coast points and if local enthusiasts have their way an attempt will be made to have local skiers develop to the point where weekly excursion trains from the Coast will be an established fact.

Promotion of "Harry Younger to the post of C.P.R. superintendent at Revelstoke has evoked considerable favorable comment among Revelstoke. Mr. Younger was divisional engineer here for a number of years and was engineer in charge of the lining of Connaught tunnel. He was a popular official on this division and it has been generally conceded for some years that he was on the "way up."

NEW BAPTIST CHURCH

The re-establishment of a Baptist Church congregation in Revelstoke became a fact on a recent Sunday evening when regular services were inaugurated.

Although services have been held from time to time in various homes, Sunday saw the first attempt at regular services. Revelstoke had a flourishing Baptist church 30 years ago but the congregation disappeared from the local scene about 25 years ago. The present services are conducted by W. L. Robertson, student pastor.

Teachers of the two public schools and the high schools, through their local association, have demanded a board of education to go into the question of a local salary schedule. Although some increases were granted last winter, the teachers are desirous of having a definite salary schedule re-established. It is stated that the former basis for the payment of salaries and bonuses was adequate some years ago but as a result no definite program of salaries exists. The matter has reached a stalemate between the teachers and the school board but it is likely that a compromise will be reached in a further effort to strengthen the matter before the expense of arbitration is incurred.

PILOT DIES

A large number of Revelstoke citizens and former residents of this town attended the funeral of a local pilot, who died on Sunday, December 5, 1938.

The deceased, Captain William J. Robertson, was a former resident of the town and was a pilot in the Canadian Air Force. He was killed in action during the war.

Services were held at the Revelstoke Baptist Church, and the body was interred in the local cemetery.

Watchdog to Guard the Quints

The Dixie quintuplets may be forbidden by Dr. Alan Roy Dace to play with "Tony" the dog shown here with Provincial Officer Robert Purvis. The Great Dane was acquired to help guard the Dixie nursery. The only dogs they have been permitted to play with so far were ones brought along by a Hollywood motion picture company for a quintuplet picture. Each dog at that time was thoroughly scrubbed and disinfected.

Revelstoke Council And Trade Board To Ask For King's Visit

Approaching Civic Elections Promise To Be Comparatively Dull

FALKLAND PIONEER SUCCUMBS AT COAST

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Dec. 6.—The Board of Trade took definite steps at its regular monthly meeting to extend an invitation to the King and Queen to visit Revelstoke next summer and dedicate the Big Bend Highway. The meeting passed a resolution empowering President F. H. Allwood to co-operate with Mayor Hardman in arranging details for an official invitation. The City Council has already had the matter under discussion.

Unless aspirants are prompted to make a last-minute declaration, candidates in the approaching civic election will be scarce. For the Mayor's position, it is taken for granted that there will be no opposition to Mayor Hardman, who is offering himself for a third term. Aldermen Sturdy, Lindsay and Cranston are all seeking re-election, but to date no candidate has appeared to oppose them. John Carmichael, C.P.R. machinist, and Ex-Alderman S. E. Needham are spoken of as likely candidates. Both were unsuccessful in last year's election. In that election, incidentally, nomination day approached with no opposition to the sitting aldermen. Re-election had closed nine candidates had filed for three council seats. A similar situation may occur again. Dr. A. L. Jones whose term on the school board expires with the election, since last election Dr. Jones has been appointed medical health officer for the schools and while the appointment does not preclude him from holding the office of school trustee, he does not think it being made to have a former school trustee S. E. Moose stand for the vacancy but he announces his reluctance to shoulder the responsibilities again. Chairman R. S. Sawyer is definitely in the running for another term.

J. A. Abrahamson, secretary of the Revelstoke Board of Trade, called the meeting of the board last Friday at the Vernon Board last Friday is impressed with the thorough and business-like way in which the members of the Vernon Board respond to their duties as citizens. The calling of a meeting to secure the details of various interior road programs was a brilliant idea and did much to create a better understanding of the aims of various sections of the interior. Mr. Abrahamson thinks. The secretary, like President Frank H. Allwood, who presided several days in the Okanagan last week, was gratified at the interest shown in Vernon in the impending completion of the Big Bend Highway.

John Paterson, well known in the Okanagan for his curling activities, has been elected president of the Revelstoke Curling Club. Other officers are, vice-president, Alderman Harold Burridge; secretary, K. D. McRae; executive, P. Dean, S. Burridge, Dave Bell and Alderman W. A. Sturdy. G. L. Tomlinson has been named captain of the club, while W. Bartlett is chairman of the draws committee. Bright prospects for early commencement of curling activities were shattered this week end, when another mild spell succeeded the colder temperatures of the previous ten days. The mild weather added a sprinkle of snow to the ground, the first this winter and broke up outdoor skating activities which had been enjoyed on a large scale for a considerable period.

At the annual meeting of the Revelstoke Canadian Society held last week, Miss Elsie Clark was elected president with the following additional officers, vice-president, Mrs. M. Mitchell; second vice-president, Mrs. J. Rutherford; secretary, Miss Nan Anderson, and treasurer, Mrs. A. Watt. The first function of the new officers was the holding of a card party to celebrate St. Andrew's Night. The party was well attended.

Seriously ill and unable to swallow more than water, 72-year-old Ernest Donegan lashed himself to the wheel of his sailing boat and brought himself 300 miles from the deserted coast of Northern Labrador to the Grenfell Hospital at Cartwright.

100 TONS OF HAY IN
ENDERBY AREA BALEDJohn McPherson's Cream
Truck Turns Over On
Salmon Arm Road

ENDERBY, B. C., Dec. 6.—Jack Ford and sons have been engaged in baling hay, and have 100 tons baled and ready for the market this week. The hay crop is reported to have been very good at Enderby this year.

Mrs. D. Barnes and baby left the Enderby hospital on Tuesday to return to their home at Grindrod. John McPherson had the misfortune to turn over his truck on the Salmon Arm hill on Saturday afternoon. Mr. McPherson was returning from his creamery route when he had the accident. No one was hurt, however, but the truck was quite badly wrecked.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hawkins and family arrived in Enderby on Friday from their home at Field to spend a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hawkins.

Mrs. Palmer was a visitor to Vernon on Friday afternoon. Charlie Johnson left at the end of the week for Vancouver, where he will spend a few days visiting. W. E. from his home at Field to spend a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hawkins.

Mrs. Harry Tomkinson, who has been visiting with her husband during his stay in Enderby and Mara districts, left Sunday for her home in Vancouver.

H. M. Walker and C. E. Richards were visitors to Penticon on Thursday to attend the Yale Conservative convention in that city.

A deal is pending between E. H. Coulter, of the Enderby Transfer company, and the Enderby Growers' Association, whereby Mr. Coulter will take over the flour and feed business of the association.

Members of St. Andrew's United Church Young People's Society held a "box social" on Wednesday evening in the basement of the United Church. The proceeds of the social will be used to help make up the sum the group has guaranteed the Church Board.

Third Annual Dramatic Festival

"Madeline Marsden" in "The End of the Dance" was such a feature of the Saturday night program, had very nearly been given the honors. And other names prominently mentioned were those of Mrs. Craven and Miss M. Sanson, of Salmon Arm; and Miss Marian Hayes and Miss Sheila Simmons, of Vernon.

A pleasing feature of the fact that Penticon was for the first time represented in the annual festival was that John Young, of the Penticon Players Club, was named as the best individual actor in the senior division, for his splendid work as "Mr. Sampson" in the amusing play of that name by C. Lee. Other names stressed by Major Bullock-Webster were those of A. Peake, of the Larch Hill Players, a winner at the last festival held here; D. Campbell, S. Thomson, and V. Nancollas, of the Salmon Arm Young People's Union; and Hattie Corbould, of the Kamloops Little Theatre.

Miss Peggy Doull, of the Vernon Little Theatre, from a large number of competitors, was named by the adjudicator as possessing the best diction among the ladies and received the coveted trophy in that department.

All the ladies of the cast of "Family Album" were commended in this regard by Major Bullock-Webster, as well as Miss Margaret Palmer, of the Good Companions; Mrs. Helen Jensen and Miss Agnes Riordan, of Penticon Players Club; Miss M. Bedford, of Salmon Arm Young People's Union; Miss Frances Bennett, of Kamloops Little Theatre; and Mrs. Rebah Harper, of the Larch Hill Players.

Arthur Venables, the young performer who at earlier festivals won such a favorable reaction from his audiences, was another Vernon trophy winner on this occasion. He secured the cup for best diction among the actors, after giving his convincing interpretation of the role of "Gerald Marsden" in the Good Companions' offering of "The End of the Dance."

Again the cast of "Family Album" were all honored in the judging of diction, while the names of D. Campbell and S. Thomson, of Salmon Arm, and Dr. E. H. Crawford, of Kamloops, were also singled out for favorable mention.

Individual awards in the junior division went to Miss Betty Corbould, of the Kamloops Senior High School, for actress; and to David Fowle, of the Vernon High School, for actor.

The latter's work in "Brothers in Arms" made "the very best Syd White I've seen in a long time," remarked Major Bullock-Webster in commenting on this backwoodsman's part, which he has seen attempted frequently by more mature actors.

Many other young performers were given honorable mention. Among the actresses were Miss Lois Lockwood, who was the charmingly rather perplexed old lady in "Thirty Minutes in a Street," as well as Miss Patsy Cochrane and Miss Gloria Mackay, of the same cast; Miss Catherine Ormsby, who appeared to splendid advantage in "Brothers in Arms"; and Miss Josephine Cross, of Kamloops.

Runners-up among the young actors were Patrick Mackie, Robert Call, and Hugh Browne, of Vernon; Art Gee, John Hannah, and John Linton, of Kamloops. All the various trophies were presented by Mrs. H. G. Gowing, prominent in the work of the popular Larch Hill Players, who have been such consistent and valuable supporters of the festival.

For the final evening the auditorium was crowded to utmost capacity, but the two preceding evenings, and the Saturday afternoon session, were also featured by large audiences that taxed the seating capacity. The acoustic properties of the new scene of the festival were commented upon very favorably by the adjudicator.

OPENED BY BISHOP
The festival was opened by the Rev. W. B. Adams, Bishop of Kootenay, who paid a high compliment to the Okanagan Valley Dramatic Festival organization, pointing out what an excellent stimulus had been afforded "to all that is included in the dramatic art."

"This is but your third birthday," he said, "but I trust you will become a hardy annual."

The number of competitors in the plays, and the number in attendance in the audience, testified to a great volume of interest that has been created. Bishop Adams said:

He referred to the religious origin of dramatic presentation and after touching on Greek and Roman drama, he laid emphasis upon the value of "the true permanent human element" that is to be found in the really great plays. Shakespeare in modern dress loses little of its power to charm.

"Education and fun" was a phrase he used to suggest what an audience may gain.

In conclusion he welcomed the outside groups, and also Major Bullock-Webster, who had returned to act as adjudicator.

"LUSTANIA"

The first play of the festival was the Vernon Little Theatre's presentation of "Lustania," directed by Mrs. E. F. Nicholson. This brought together Miss Sheila Simmons and A. S. MacKinnon in the leading roles, supported by Frederic Bullivant and C. W. Gaunt-Stevenson.

Miss Simmons was handicapped by the fact that she had agreed to undertake the part a fairly short time before the festival performance. In many ways she proved a "graceful and charming" figure, according to the summing up of the adjudicator at the close of the evening. Yet the presentation, on the whole, was subjected to a very frank and penetrating criticism. "Lack of rehearsal and uncertainty were obvious," observed Major Bullock-Webster.

The breaks and delays, he said, and inadequate technique, coupled with a monotony of stage business, meant that the essentially dramatic theme had no grip upon the audience. This had been attested to by a chorus of poorly suppressed laughs at what should have been a really tense climax. Drama became melodrama.

"One felt that these people were referring to that coming torpedo as if it were an ice cream or something."

"COMMAND PERFORMANCE"

The play chosen by the Salmon Arm Young People's Union, which was J. S. Knapp's "The Command Performance," offered a story somewhat "manufactured" plot, gave another of his convincing and pleasing performances. He is no stranger to Vernon audiences, having appeared at previous festivals, and again he was given well-merited praise by the adjudicator. Throughout he remained in character, "a fine decorative figure."

The work as a whole, Major Bullock-Webster continued, made for a quite good performance, made for a quite good performance. The ensemble action was particularly adequate, and the staging was adequate. This necessitated the handling of as many as nine on-stage figures at a time.

The story, dealing with the venerable Mahatma of the Mahatmas, who plots for the sacrifice of one of his seven white guests, demanded an interpretation of varying types. "And they managed to do quite well with this," commented Major Bullock-Webster.

Miss M. Sanson, Miss J. Campbell, and Miss M. Bedford took the four main parts, while G. Ruggles, V. Nancollas, P. Wood, and S. Thompson comprised the balance of the "guests" cast. Indian native interpretations were by Miss V. Linton and P. Culbert, and direction of the performance was by T. Prescott.

A number of points as to the general improvement of acting and stage technique were briefly listed, in the adjudicator's remarks.

"NEW LEISURE"

Harold Brighouse's stimulating little one-act work, "New Leisure," was the play chosen by the Vernon United Church Young People's Union, and the after-breakfast developments in the pleasant scene of a London suburban home, carried out by a cast of five under the direction of Mrs. Myra L. Chaplin, seemed to hold the audience's attention quite well.

Wilfred Jewell's interpretation of the main role, that of "Horace Chambers," was a consistent one. As Major Bullock-Webster described it, "He played it well—as he saw it."

However, continued the adjudicator, the interpretation was not quite as he himself estimated it from reading the play. The part needed a brighter tone and more vivid pace, with more attention to climax of action. Miss Mildred Phillips, Miss Marian Hayes, Miss Muriel Butler, and Ian Brand were the others in the cast, all of whom gave capable performances.

The scene was quite adequate, the adjudicator pointed out, a fact that was attested to at the opening curtain when the audience broke into applause.

"YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK"

A fact stressed by Major Bullock-Webster was that the work of Young People's organizations, from various churches throughout the province, continues to show excellent development.

Before giving his adjudications of the festival, paying a tribute to the work of Major McGuire and the others of his executive.

"Wherever I go," said the speaker, "I suggest that they follow the example of Vernon, in drafting such excellent programs and attending so well to all details. I think you are to be very highly complimented here."

Major Bullock-Webster read a letter that had been printed in The Vernon News at the close of last year's festival. He emphasized the fact that an adjudicator's views must necessarily be regarded as the interpretation of but one man. Others may differ. It would be his aim, he told the audience, to offer constructive details so far as possible. And as for marks, these did not always convey the true picture in a comparative sense, for acting cannot be reduced to the exact basis of mathematics.

The adjudicator renewed this position, even more strongly, on Friday night.

"Bishop Adams told you at the opening that he felt confident the best play would win. I wish I could now feel as confident that the best really will come out on top."

Major Bullock-Webster made this remark to indicate how closely connected had been the Friday night entries, all of a high standard.

"FAMILY ALBUM"

He had, however, been impressed the most by "Family Album" was made more apparent as he continued. He went so far, indeed, as to suggest that this presentation by the Kalamalka Players should be entered in the provincial drama festival, with a possibility of even Dominion-wide competition.

"This was," he remarked amid strong applause from the audience, "an exceptional play exceptionally well done."

The Vernon group, defending the championship they had captured at the preceding festival contest, made perhaps an even more pleasing impression on this occasion with their work in Noel Coward's charming Victorian comedy, "Family Album."

From the opening tableau in the drawing room, 1880 style, with its sombre atmosphere of family mourning, through to the contrasted climax when, buoyed up by the ample potations of Madeira wine, the group went to a more relaxed and even rollicking scene, there was a very well-sustained exhibition of competent stage technique, with each of the various characters giving a convincing interpretation.

For each of the roles Major Bullock-Webster had a word to say, indicating his approval of the effective work shown.

The cast was comprised of Major McGuire as Jasper Featherhays; Mrs. W. Brimblecombe as Jane Featherhays; Miss Dorothy Turner as Mrs. J. R. Kidston; and Lavinia and Richard Featherhays, respectively; Miss S. Gibson as Harriett Winter; Mrs. M. V. McGuire as Emily Valance; M. A. Curwen as Edward Valance; W. Brimblecombe as Charles Winter; and B. Kidston as Burrows. A particularly effective contributor to the atmosphere of the play was Mrs. E. Gaunt-Stevenson, at the piano, whose suggestion of a "music box" at one point in the plot, was completely effective.

"There are very few places where you could get a group together who could so well portray a family such as this," remarked Major Bullock-Webster, "and the entire effort reflects the greatest credit on the director."

"SINGAPORE SPIDER"

Edward Finnegan's strongly plotted "Singapore Spider" was the offering of the Kamloops Little Theatre on Friday night. "But it didn't frighten me very much," commented the adjudicator, in frankly stating that this piece of work had not come up to the level of the "Doll's House" presentation which was so outstanding at the first valley festival.

The climax of this play did not grip as it should, Major Bullock-Webster explained. "It didn't quite create the horror that the playwright intended."

Dr. L. Crawford, in one of the main roles, said his lines excellently. He was given a cordial applause at his first exit. And this was well merited, the adjudicator said. But this particular actor looked more like a preacher than a horrible old red-robed sorcerer.

Huntley Corbould was complimented "for definitely lifting the play from the moment he comes in"; and other parts were played by Misses Frances Bennett and Lorna Harris, and by J. L. Woodhanger. Direction was by Agnes Binns.

"MR. SAMPSON"

"Mr. Sampson," the amusing play by C. Lee, was a good vehicle to display the talents of three performers from the Penticon Players Club, Mrs. Helen Jensen, Miss Agnes Riordan, and John Young. The last mentioned actor, indeed, was eventually judged to be the best of the entire festival, while the two young women were given honorable mention for their diction.

"Mr. Young was a very effective actor," commented Major Bullock-Webster. "The voice and simulated accent were well sustained." The two others on the stage, moreover, gave him excellent support in this "very amusing and smooth-running play." It was under the direction of Dr. Roy W. Walker.

Many in the audience remembered the first festival when Mr. Peake walked off with the actors' honors by a splendid performance, and gave him an enthusiastic reception on this occasion again. Mrs. Craven, as his wife, gave him good support, and other parts were well handled, but the adjudicator in his summing up implied that there was some inexperience in evidence, which tended to interfere with the full development of the plot's style. However, it had been "extraordinarily creditable for these players to come this distance to take part." A great volume of applause greeted this remark.

Others in the cast, beside those already mentioned, were Mrs. Rebah Harper, Wilson June, and Charlie Burn, and there was some excellent off-stage work in creating various effects.

"THE END OF THE DANCE"

Saturday night's program was commenced by a very festive and artistic performance of "The End of the Dance," featured by the appearance of a cast comprised of Miss Margaret Palmer, Miss Cocks-Johnston, H. K. Bearstro, and "The End of the Dance" with F. G. Saunders as the director.

The set, according to the adjudicator, "showed thought, taste, and care, with all details well thought out. It was a good play, well done."

Miss Palmer, he declared, "had been very delightful in the main role of the invalid and adoring wife," and he paid a generous tribute to her stage abilities which had been revealed in many different ways. He also praised the work of Arthur Venables, stating that this young man had been "very appealing, showing a splendid technique and good diction." Miss Cocks-Johnston and Mr. Bearstro had, moreover, been effective in their supporting parts.

The play was later declared to be runner-up to "Family Album" for the chief award; Mr. Venables was given the cup for actors' diction; and Miss Palmer was announced as the actress who had been placed just behind Miss Turnbull for the individual trophy. The play therefore marked an obviously high mark in the festival program, according to Major Bullock-Webster.

"OUT GOES SHE"

Another play of the same evening's bill that seemed to hold the audience's interest and attention completely was Philip Johnson's "Out Goes She," as given by the Vernon Little Theatre, under the direction of Cyril Onions.

This piece was due to a very large extent depended upon the characterization of Miss Norma French, as Mrs. Shirley Orton. She had what appeared to be the greatest number of lines of any performer in any of the plays throughout the festival, and from the first to the last she held her own in a very effective and almost unrelieved part. Through an intricate cross-fire dialogue, which varied as far as other performers were concerned, that which left upon her a very hard, taxing to memory and acting capacity alike, she conveyed a consistent interpretation. Without a shrewd sense of timing, lively change of pace at times, and other evidences of good stage judgment, this character could have become monotonously dull. As it was, it was a feature of the evening's program, and, when coupled with Miss Palmer's delightful work in the preceding play, gave strong emphasis to the progress being made in this city by local amateurs.

Miss Peggy Doull made another very favorable impression in this play, and, as already indicated, succeeded in capturing the diction award. James Holt, moreover, offered an adequate portrayal of "Cedric Orton," while small parts were undertaken by Mrs. Ella Gaunt-Stevenson and by the director himself, Mr. Onions.

Major Bullock-Webster said that his remarks on this work might have been put extended, but he had been of the earlier belief that the play was disqualified by exceeding the time limit. This did not eventually prove to be the case, as an hour was really allowed.

He criticized some features of the action, and, as a commendation, Miss French for her work, suggested that the interpretation did not quite fit his conception of the part. He also offered other remarks calculated to improve what he said had been "a rather heavy start" and some defects in casting.

"AND THE ANSWER IS"

The final play was offered by the Progressive Arts Club, of Salmon Arm. "The Answer Is" was a comedy by B. C. writer, "And The Answer Is" by Mary Reynolds. This is a "propaganda" type, but "very well worth doing," in the words of the adjudicator.

He found fault with the audibility of some of the acting, and laid stress on certain aspects of the direction, but on the whole commended the group for its painstaking effort.

Those taking part under the joint direction of J. R. Tweeddale and M. Honey were W. P. M. Honey, J. Honey, R. Davis, E. Stirling, M. Turner, Mrs. W. J. Honey, Mrs. P. Bivart, Mrs. B. O. Hooper.

Dealing with the junior offerings on the Saturday afternoon program, Major Bullock-Webster remarked that he was "amazed and pleased" by the progress that had been made.

"There is so much skill and so few blemishes in evidence that it all testifies to remarkable improvement."

EXCELLENT STAGING

The first play offered was Beatrice Mayor's "Thirty Minutes in A Street" directed by Miss Anna Fullerton. This was a most excellently staged piece of work, with a wide variety of parts being well handled by the large cast. "It was," said the adjudicator, "thoroughly good entertainment by these young actors."

The work of the Misses Allison Layton, Gloria Mackay, Patsy Cochrane, and Lois Lockwood, and of Patrick Mackie seemed particularly outstanding, though the cast in its entirety secured cordial praise.

Those participating were David Munro, Bill French, Allison Layton, Patrick Mackie, Edwin Lockwood, Anne Chambers, Gloria Mackay, Betty Pearce, Dorothy Greenwood, Patsy Cochrane, Velma Pasmore, Barbara Godfrey, David Gordon, Howard Hollock, Keith Pearson, Janet Clarke, Muriel Butler, Lois

Lockwood, Jack Hairsine, Adolph Wesenfeld, Kenneth Cullen, Norma Reed, and Anne Beddome.

"HIGHLAND GENTLEMEN"

A youthful but pleasing little group from "Our Club" in Revelstoke, under the direction of Mrs. Allwood, gave Lucy Bickerseth's "Highland Gentlemen." This performance was particularly enjoyable in bringing such young actresses to the stage. Major Bullock-Webster remarked. The little "Highland Gentlemen" himself, an alert little "Scotie," proved a good canine performer and gave a good account of himself at the climax. Those of the cast were Gladys and Mary Duck, Phyllis Tumross, Patsy Orr, Lucille Jones, and June Cooper.

STRONG KAMLOOPS CAST

Mary Pakington's strong play "The House With The Twisted Windows" was given by the Kamloops Senior High School, with Miss Gertrude Reid directing. This offering brought out a good deal of talent. Miss Betty Corbould was named as the best junior actress, while a number of the youthful actors were chosen as in the running for the actors' honors. "Those taking part were Art, John Liddstone, Miss Betty Whitecross, Miss Betty Corbould, Miss Josephine Cross, John Hannah, and Lynn Gordon. The illusion of reality was well secured, assisted by able stage arrangements, and lighting effects."

WINNING PLAY

The winning play, "Brothers in Arms" by Merrill Denison, as given by the Vernon High School Drama Club, with youthful Robert Call directing, was the last on the junior list, and an exceptionally good piece of work that appeared to catch the fancy of the afternoon audience. This was largely due to the very adequate characterizations offered by the young director himself in one of the main parts, by David Fowle, as a laconic backwoodsman, on whom most of the effect of the play rested, Miss Catherine Ormsby, and Hugh Browne.

"It was well directed and timed," Major Bullock-Webster remarked. The setting was good, but the really appealing feature of the play was the highly convincing portrayals by the young performers.

Of David Fowle, winning junior actor, the adjudicator was particularly enthusiastic, but he also indicated his hearty approval of the work of Miss Ormsby and of the other two young men.

At the junior performance on Saturday afternoon the Vernon Schools Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Elaine Jameson was heard, and at the evening performance the Vernon Symphony Orchestra, with Harry Kirk conducting, supplied the highly appreciated music.

The work of the entire festival was made the more successful, of course, because of the able efforts of many committees. Major McGuire was a very able stage manager, assisted by J. R. Kidston, and other committees were: tickets and house, W. F. Laidman; ushers and program sales, Vernon High School; properties, Miss S. Gibson, Miss S. Simmons, P. S. Sterling; dressing rooms, Miss A. Conroy; orchestras, Miss S. Gibson; publicity, Major B. C. McGuire; timekeeper and assistant to adjudicator, Miss B. Reed.

Ralph Hopping

A point of interest is that Mr. Hopping while in the United States devised and perfected the method of control of the bark beetle that is most commonly used today on the North American continent. This entails the cutting and burning of bark from infected trees. It was discovered more than 20 years ago and is still the best system.

Biological control has been supervised here by Mr. Hopping. This is the system of introducing of parasites to get control of pests, especially those which attack foliage on ornamental plants.

All entomologists but one in this city are employed by the Dominion government. They undertake perfection of methods for control of pests, but enforcement is left to the individual provinces.

Unfortunately both control of bark beetles and biological control are expensive and the B.C. government has largely stopped the fight. In any emergency the Dominion entomologists' resources and experience are available. They are used in emergencies with the province providing the funds.

Mr. Hopping's territory during his almost two decades of service has covered the entire province of British Columbia and Western Alberta in addition.

Prior to coming here he was for 13 years in the United States Forest Service. He was stationed in California for the entire period except for the Great War years, when he covered New Mexico, Colorado, and other south-western states.

At the present time a brother, Guy Hopping, is superintendent of the Great National Park in California.

Over the past 25 years Mr. Hopping has collected a vast collection of insects, birds, and other animals. He has made up a collection of over 400 individual cases containing 15,000 species of insects. "I couldn't begin to tell you the number of individual specimens," he says. As may be imagined the figure is large.

The entire collection, neatly arranged and catalogued, occupies more than a whole office wall. To add to this, Mr. Hopping has a large collection of birds, mammals, and other animals.

Mr. Hopping is now six years past his normal retiring age of 65. He was asked to take a further term of five years and then one additional year.

During the winter he plans to keep on working, and next May will visit California, his former home.

PERCY L. TOPHAM IS LAID TO REST HERE

I. O. O. F. Lodge And In
Returned Men's Work

Funeral services with the local I.O.O.F. Lodge in charge will be held from All Saints' Church this afternoon for Percy Leonard Topham, who died at his home Monday morning.

Mr. Topham was married in the Old Country three days before the arrival of Miss Charlotte Field, who survives, and they came to Canada in 1919. They later moved to this city and for a number of years Mr. Topham was employed by the Hudson's Bay Co. here. Mr. Topham had lately opened his own retail shoe business on Barnard Avenue.

He was born in Huntingdonshire, England, 49 years ago on December 1. He served Overseas from 1914 to 1919.

During his residence in Vernon Mr. Topham took a wide range of interests, including the I.O.O.F. and returned men's groups. He was fond of sport, particularly fishing.

Surviving are his wife, one daughter and his mother and two brothers in England. A younger brother was killed during the Great War.

SALMON ARM WILL DECIDE ON HOCKEY LEAGUE PLAY TODAY

Set-up of the North Okanagan Hockey League, a subject for conference since the annual meeting here two weeks ago, is as yet indefinite.

Whether the loop will be a three-four-five team affair is not known, but developments within the next week should settle this question.

League President R. S. Griffin, of Armstrong, stated Wednesday he had had no word from either the Salmon Arm or Shuswap, the doubtful hopefuls, as to their intentions.

Over long distance telephone, The Vernon News was told by a member of last year's Salmon Arm hockey executive that a definite decision will be reached in a preliminary meeting at Shuswap, Thursday.

A meeting a week ago decided not to enter. Since then, however, public opinion has manifested itself in the effect that that centre should be represented, through a time-up will be substantially the same.

No "hanging" of arms has been put into effect there. This week a report was current here that Charlie Macmillan, Shuswap's best player, would line up with Armstrong, and this would have the same outcome, as last year. No "hanging" of arms has been put into effect there.

CORRESPONDENCE

Corrects Report

Editor, The Vernon News: Sir,
I note that you report me as saying that if the Shuswap players do what we growers told them then "no hell with them."

It might have been less misleading to all concerned had you gone a little further and explained what led up to this remark.

The "growers" was discussing the final draft of the plan which is so soon to be discussed by growers. It had been said that several recommendations of grower committees had been turned down by shippers and that unless the shippers agreed to accept the growers' plan, the shippers would have no chance of getting anywhere. The not unknown feeling of futility was coming to the fore.

I therefore told the meeting that, so far as I was concerned, if our growers, the shippers, refused to do with the growers' plan, the growers would have no chance of getting anywhere. I am confident that the shippers, being intelligent men, will accept the growers' plan, and that the growers will have some success in the fruit they grow and that they, the shippers, will be satisfied with my attitude.

Yours truly,

Much Discussed By-Law May Be Enacted In The Near Future

The proposed new Trades License By-law, under discussion and study by joint committees from the City Council and Business Men's Bureau ever since early last spring, may be enacted as a civic statute in the near future. It may also, however, be turned down, but a definite decision will be given by the present Council.

A decision that the Council and Bureau committees meet once more to consider phases of the measure was made at Monday evening's City Council session, which was attended by a delegation of business men.

This civic measure has already passed its second reading by the Council and if ratified again would become law.

Capt. H. P. Coombes, secretary of the Bureau, spoke on behalf of the delegation, though most of the members later addressed the Council and various alterations also gave their views on the merits of the proposed by-law. Those present from the Bureau included J. M. Campbell, J. B. Woods, Richard Peters, L. B. Clarke, George Williamson, Archie Fleming, Capt. Coombes and G. P. Bagnall.

CLARKE NAMED CHAIRMAN

Capt. Coombes asked that the Council and Bureau joint committees meet again to consider the by-law. He was the final decision, and Mayor Bowman appointed Alderman Clarke, chairman, and Alderman C. O. Wilde and David Howie to act as a proposed gathering of the committee some weeks ago at which the Bureau was represented by Capt. Coombes, who also outlined the varied history of the measure.

Alderman A. R. Smith said that the City Council objected particularly to wording of one clause in the by-law, and that the measure should be changed so that it would be more in line with the spirit of the law.

Alderman Smith also charged that Alderman Howie reported to the Council that the Council was not in favour of the measure, and that the Council was not in favour of the measure.

BATTERED BODY OF SECTIONMAN FOUND IN SHACK

Police Searching For Partner
Of John Rabicki, Found
Murdered

REVELSTOKE, B.C., Dec. 4.—There are no new developments in the investigation surrounding the finding of the badly battered body of John Rabicki, Canadian Pacific Railway sectionman, in his small shack in the heart of the city, Saturday night. A jury, under the leadership of W. G. Cowan, was empaneled Monday and after viewing the remains, following this procedure, Coroner A. M. Grimmen adjourned the jury until next Monday, and unless investigations now underway come to a sudden end, the inquest will not be held before that date.

In the meantime the search for Rabicki's partner, who was engaged in wood cutting operations with the dead man, some time before the crime was committed, is continuing, and while authorities are non-committal on the progress of the hunt, it is understood that efforts to trace his movements have not been entirely unsuccessful.

Rabicki, who occupied a shack at the rear of the residential property of H. H. Watson, locomotive engineer, on Second Street East, had not been noticed here for several days toward the end of last week, and this fact led Watson to enter the shack Saturday night under the impression that Rabicki had vacated the premises without giving notice. Watson, when he discovered the body on the floor thought the man was intoxicated, but when his flashlight revealed a pool of blood on the floor and the handle of a pole saw across the deceased's throat, he was horrified.

An empty wallet on the bed suggested robbery and the fact that the man had only 20 cents in his pocket and a valuable gold watch was missing added strength to that theory. Rabicki, although he had been out of work, except for a bit of wood cutting in the Big Bend, since the first of October when maintenance of way forces on the railway were curtailed, was known by his friends to have had money. He had told a friend only last week that he intended to spend Christmas in Vancouver and when he was not seen for several days it was assumed that he had left for the Coast earlier than he had expected.

Rabicki, about 40 years of age, was a well known figure in the district. A former officer in the Australian army he carried himself erect and was always well dressed. He came to Canada from the Ukraine nine years ago and for the greater part of that time had been engaged on railway work on this division. He was a quiet individual who seldom interested himself in the affairs of others and as far as can be learned had no enemies.

COUNCIL RE-AFFIRMS ITS DECISION AS TO "NO CHRISTMAS TREE"

The City Council on Monday evening re-affirmed its previous decision not to erect a "Christmas tree" at the intersection of Barnard Avenue and Seventh Street at the approaching holiday season.

The subject was brought to the Council's attention through reading of a letter from the Board of Trade. The communication asked the Council to re-consider its stand on this matter and if the former site for the tree was not considered advisable, to have it erected at a more suitable spot.

Alderman A. R. Smith moved that the communication be acknowledged and the Board told that the tree at the City Hall would be better decorated than in the past, but that no tree would be erected on Barnard Avenue, because it is a menace to traffic.

Alderman David Howie, who seconded the resolution, said that the cost of a tree is about $150. Mayor Harry Bowman pointed out that the cost was not the only deciding factor. A tree, he said, is a danger to traffic as well, and a good one is hard to procure.

Alderman Everard Clarke was the only member of the Council who spoke in favor of erecting the tree, but he was outvoted.

A suggestion that the matter be deferred for two days so that the Council could investigate the situation was made by Alderman C. J. Hurr, but was not looked on with favor.

Miss Topham-Brown's art studio in The Vernon News block during the past three days has been the scene of a very pleasing exhibition of the works of Baroness Herry. The display of about forty pictures was made up of landscapes, portraits, still life, and night effects, done in pastel. The landscapes were all scenes of local interest featuring the Coldstream and Kalamalka Lake districts. The one exception to this was a view of Lake Manitoba in the Canadian Rockies. Baroness Herry provided over the exhibition and the many works were arranged in the style which is now used extensively in the hanging of pictures for artistic arrangement. Baroness Herry stated that she was very pleased by the response that had been accorded the exhibition during the past few days.

A free showing of pictures, featuring films of the Okanagan, taken by Travel Films Incorporated, will be shown in the Burrall Hall next Monday night, December 12, and judging by other pictures taken by this organization, the entertainment offered should prove very worth while enjoying.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gloeckner left on Wednesday evening for New York on the first stage of a trip to Hungary where they plan to spend the next three months visiting with relatives. Mrs. M. Hunt, of this city, received a letter this week from her brother, Gus Marker, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who expressed his thanks to his Vernon fans who recently wired him their best wishes for the coming hockey season. The 1st and 2nd Troops of Boy Scouts have reopened their Christmas toyshop in an endeavor to repair and renew as many old books and toys as possible for distribution among the less fortunate children of this city. All the toys that pass through the shop will be turned over to local charitable organizations in charge of Christmas cheer work. If any home that has old toys around that are no longer used will turn them over to any Scout he will see that they are placed with those in charge of the toyshop.

Wednesday evening of next week will mark the first concert of the Vernon Symphony Orchestra this winter. Under the able direction of leader Harry Kirk, the orchestra of about thirty pieces will present a program of varied selections which should please the music loving public of this city. Not only will this concert be the first this winter but it will also be the first of a series of similar concerts to be given during the coming season.

Twelve years attendance at Sunday School without missing once through illness or for any other reason is the unique record recently achieved by Miss Norah Clarke, who was presented with her twelfth year award at the morning service of the Vernon United Church last Sunday. In presenting the award, the Rev. Dr. Jenkin H. Davies stated that he felt Miss Clarke's achievement was a record in the province and that he was certain it was a record in the Vernon church. With the conclusion of these years as a pupil, she has assumed the position of a teacher in the United Church Sunday School.

Isaac Morris, of this city, succumbed in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital Wednesday night. He is survived by a son, A. E. Morris, a resident here. Details were unknown up to time of going to press.

Basketball is leading the field on the winter sports program in the Vernon Senior High School at the present time and it is understood that if arrangements can be completed, two teams, a boys' and a girls' team, will travel to Armstrong on Saturday to meet a similar aggregation there in the first game of the 1938-39 season.

Members of the Joint City Council and Business Men's Bureau committee caused to study the proposed Trades Licensing By-law met on Tuesday evening and as a result a number of changes were recommended in the measure. Those attending were Aldermen Clarke, chairman David Howie, J. C. Woods, Capt. H. P. Coombes, and Richard Peters.

Members of the City Council were guests of Alderman Everard Clarke, who is retiring from the Council this year, at a dinner in the National Hotel on Tuesday evening. Alderman Clarke expressed his pleasure at having worked with the mayor and Aldermen during the past two years and his regret at having to drop from civic life owing to pressure of private business.

A recent visitor to Vernon was F. W. Tuffrey, field supervisor for the B.C. Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society with headquarters at Victoria. Mr. Tuffrey came to Vernon because of a campaign to raise $1,500 for the work of the Society. While here he interviewed a small number of individuals from whom he received a most cordial reception and some financial assistance. Mr. Tuffrey told The Vernon News that the people in Vernon and the Coldstream were most willing to assist a war effort when the needs were presented to them.

More than 200 persons attended the Rover Trumpet Band this annual Snowball Frolic held in the Scout Hall on Friday of last week. Hours of effort by members of the band were put into the decoration of the hall and their work was fully justified by the amount of favorable comments received. In all the dance proved to be very successful and, through the resulting proceeds and the results of a raffle now in progress, it is hoped that the band will be able to enter in competition at the Vancouver Exhibition next year.

The Thursday evening performances of the North Okanagan Dramatic Festival not only marked the opening of the festival but also the opening of this city's new Empress Ballroom. Upon the completion of the new Capitol Theatre, the Famous Players Corporation made good a standing promise and rebuilt the former Empress Theatre into a highly modern ballroom. The sloping floor of the old theatre was raised to the same level as that of the foyer and the stage was lifted three feet. The interior was entirely redecorated in a much brighter style and the lighting fixtures were entirely changed and now provide for a brilliantly lighted auditorium. The dance floor itself is that formerly laid in the National Ballroom which in a great measure speaks for itself. The balcony of the old theatre was levelled and raised and now serves as a supper room, with a number of the tables arranged to overlook the ballroom floor, while the old projection room was rebuilt into a kitchen. The general construction on the project was carried out by the firm of Morris & Sanderson, the electrical work was done by the Okanagan Electric and J. M. Edgar, and the plumbing and heating was installed by the Vernon Hardware.

The Vernon City Club was host to several members of the Kelowna Club on Wednesday evening when V. F. Locke, Henry Burth, J. Cushing, Alex. Marshall, F. Willis, St. George Baldwin, W. B. Thomson, J. C. Kennedy, D. Oliver, and A. Derry made the trip to this city. During the course of the evening the visitors and their hosts attended the season's first hockey game played in the Arena on that night.

L. R. Clarke, Cecil Johnston, and E. H. Harkness, of the Vernon Rotary Club, left on Tuesday evening for Vancouver where they were to be joined by W. S. Harris, who had left earlier on a trip to the Coast. The group were to attend the Wednesday and Thursday performances of the Vancouver Rotary Ice Carnival. Through information they secured at the Coast they hope to assure smooth running performances at the Rotary Ice Carnival to be held here in the Civic Arena on December 29.

Dr. Orville Daniel, a missionary from China on furlough, spoke before an interested audience in the First Baptist Church on Monday evening. He made a strong appeal for evangelism in the Christian churches, pointing out that while many other phases of church activity were fully organized, this very important matter is being neglected. His remarks dealt with one town in India, which he described as significant and typical of India as a whole. The Rev. D. J. Rowland presided over the meeting, and also on the platform was the Rev. J. C. Hardy.

PETITION ASKS FOR BLUE SPRINGS SCHOOL

District Has Been Without Facilities For Good Many Years

LUMBY, B. C., Dec. 5.—A petition has been forwarded to the Department of Education, asking that a school be established once more at Blue Springs, after a lapse of a good many years, during which the school house has fallen into decay. A school may be established again. Residents in that portion of the district, are working under disadvantages sending their children to school. Some attend Reelsburg school; others go as far as Shuswap Falls. Blue Springs is really outside the Lumby area and, unless an extra school route bus is provided, could not be taken in, so that the building of a new school seems the best solution.

The bazaar, sale of work and home cooking held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sigalek was an outstanding success. An enjoyable time was spent, with "lucky dips" for parcels and a novel idea in the raffling of patches. Underneath the lucky number of the winner was found a sum of money, collected over a long period. The Christmas cake was won by A. Shaw, of Shuswap Falls, while Mrs. Henry Sigalek won the lucky patch containing $3.

John Major has successfully undergone an operation at the Vernon Jubilee Hospital.

Once or twice last week Lumby people thought they were living in the banana belt, with snow in Vernon, and fine weather in Lumby, but on Sunday morning all awoke to a heavy snowfall.

Mrs. Howard Derby returned recently from the Vernon Jubilee Hospital, convalescent after an operation.

MRS. R. C. LIPSETT IS DEAD IN SUMMERLAND

SUMMERLAND, B. C., Dec. 5.—Mrs. R. C. Lipsett, wife of Dr. R. C. Lipsett, died suddenly at her home here on Tuesday evening, in her 85th year.

Mrs. Lipsett was born in Gagetown, New Brunswick, and came to the Okanagan Valley in 1905 from Treherm, Manitoba. She had lived in Summerland since 1908.

She was always an active worker in community affairs. She was a member of the Baptist Church, keenly interested in hospital work, and was an organizer in the early days of Women's Institute work in the valley. One of the first presidents of the Summerland Institute.

Mrs. Lipsett was also the first member from the Southern Okanagan to be on the B. C. Advisory Board. She taught parliamentary procedure to many new Institutes.

She is survived by her husband, two sisters, Mrs. C. Elph, of Upperville, and Mrs. J. R. Alexander, of Pasadena, Calif.; and locally by a niece, Mrs. H. C. Mellor, of Summerland, and a nephew, George A. Robinson, of Penticton. The late G. H. V. Binyan, formerly Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, was a brother.

The funeral service was held from Summerland Baptist Church on Thursday afternoon. Addresses were given by Judge Kelley, K. O., by the Rev. A. T. Robinson, and by the pastor, the Rev. John Scott.

"I AM THE LAW" IS ANTI-GANGLAND FILM

Painted against the stark background of a big city and populated with fresh dramatic turns which make it original among the more familiar types of anti-gangland films, Columbia's "I Am the Law" comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, December 12 and 13, with Edward G. Robinson starred as the dynamic, gang-busting prosecutor, Otto Kruger, who never fails to give his characterizations, is czar of the racketeers.

The story, directed by Alexander Hall from a clever screenplay by Jo Swerling, concerns the identification of a law professor to rid the city of murderous gangsters.

One of Robinson's graduate attorneys, portrayed by John Hall, is enlisted by the fighting prosecutor as his crime-combating aide. Barbara O'Neil leaves as a competent helper, her professional husband, in his campaign, while Wendy Barrie is a beautiful but vicious feminine adjunct to Kruger.

Bren Gun Probe Evidence Completed

Cadets at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, England, are here examining the new Bren gun which is said to be one of the lightest and fastest machine guns in the world yet weighing only 21 pounds. Britain has made the Czechoslovakian-invented "mystery" guns standard equipment and now Canadian forces are to be supplied with 7,000 guns, manufacture of which is to start soon. Royal Commission inquiry into the letting of the Bren gun contracts in Canada has concluded its hearings, and the evidence is now being considered by Mr. Justice Davis.

Board of Trade Meeting . . .

planatory resolution, proposed by H. T. Griffiths, of Penticton Board of Trade, and seconded by W. S. Harris, of Vernon Board of Trade, and carried without a dissenting voice.

"Resolved: That this meeting comprising representatives of the Board of Trade of the Okanagan Valley, the Trans-Canada Highway Association, the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association, and the Hope-Princeton Highway Association, goes on record as being unanimously in favor of the completion of the Trans-Canada Highway from Vancouver, through Kamloops, Salmon Arm, Grindrod, Sicamous, Revelstoke, Leachville, and thence to the Alberta boundary, the hard-surfacing of the Okanagan Valley from Sicamous to Osoyoos, and the early and aggressive completion of the sole remaining 12 miles of the Hope-Princeton gap."

Copies of this resolution were ordered sent to Premier T. D. Pattullo, Hon. F. M. Macpherson, Minister of Public Works, and to all legislative members in the affected area. It was further decided that each Board of Trade and highway group represented should write in similar vein to the government officials.

In opening the meeting Chairman H. W. Galbraith, of this city, said that he considered it a "record breaking gathering."

"We are here to formulate a high-way program suitable to all sections, and I am sure that this will give great strength to our future representations, if we speak with a united voice," he said.

Galbraith then called on members of various groups represented at the conference to give their views.

Dr. A. H. Bayne, of Kamloops, president of the Trans-Canada Highway Association, was the first to speak.

"I believe the Trans-Canada road, which will connect British Columbia with the prairies, is the greatest road project in the province today," Mr. Bayne said.

Completion of the highway is not alone in the interests of the main line as individual centres, but will benefit the entire province. "No other road in this province can realize the effect the Trans-Canada can," he said.

Last year, Dr. Bayne continued, 100,000 people visited Banff and were unable to come here because the Big Bend roadway was uncompleted. It is estimated by people here that at least 25 percent of these tourists to Banff would come to B. C. That is the dream of every prairie farmer, to visit B. C., and many others from eastern United States will come too when the Trans-Canada is completed.

"You might as well wait other roads as a water tap that is unattached until the Big Bend is completed because there are going to be literally thousands come through the Trans-Canada," he said.

"We want to get traffic moving, and it will not until you can offer the tourist scenic routes other than ones they have travelled. They will not back-track."

He then offered the opinion that when the Trans-Canada is open the Okanagan "will begin to realize what the tourist traffic means to the province."

"You are going to realize that other communities will spring up and flourish on the tourist traffic alone when the Trans-Canada is open. This has occurred in the United States and we have more beauty in a square mile than they have in some entire states."

"I think the Trans-Canada is your solution and I say that with no prejudice to any other highway, whether existing or contemplated."

That the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association stands ready and willing to co-operate with any and every group working for better roads in the Interior, was the substance of the message presented by Harry Broad of Kelowna.

LOGGING OPERATIONS AT TERRACE MOUNTAIN ARE NOW CONCLUDING

EWING'S LANDING, B. C., Dec. 5.—The logging camp, which has been operating on an extensive scale at Terrace Mountain for nearly three months, has closed. Mr. Holding has a million and a quarter feet of logs on the beach adjacent to Mr. Byron-Johnson's property at Nahun, which amount Mr. Holding contracted to cut for the Simpson Saw Mill in Kelowna. He and his family have moved to the Commonage, where he plans to cut logs this winter and coming spring. Mr. and Mrs. Holding will be missed in this district, as they were always willing to take part in any community activities, and it is hoped that they will be able to return to their home here in the near future.

Mrs. Jim Schubert drove out from Armstrong on Sunday, November 27, staying over night with Mrs. Holding. She also visited "Woodlands" during her stay.

Lawrence Battley and his son, and Gordon Hall, all of Oyama, spent three days in this district recently hunting, during which time they camped on the "Woodlands" property.

Capt. McCulloch with his ship "Orchard City" were at Nahun on Thursday last, when a boom of logs was taken to the Kelowna Saw Mills, the same having been cut and assembled on the beach by Bob Hewlett.

Mr. Ephard has been breaking up land on his sheep ranch at Nahun with a view to staying there permanently.

Rolly Hayes has been building corrals, etc., on his new property at Six-Mile Creek.

The tract of land comprising roughly 2,200 acres, known as Bow Park, situated on Whiteman's Creek, has been taken over by Messrs. Reiselick. Part of their plans are to log off this extensive acreage, after which it is understood they will go in for cattle raising on a large scale.

Each one attending the banquet were supplied with maps by R. G. Rutherford, of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association.

W. S. Harris, of the Vernon Board of Trade, asked by Mr. Galbraith to express his views, said he wished to be clear as to what he would voice.

Therefore, Mr. Harris said, he wished to know what route the Trans-Canada would take at Sicamous. Would it use the Bruhn road from Sicamous to Salmon Arm, or the existing highway, marked on the map, from Sicamous to Grindrod, Enderby, and Salmon Arm?

Any maps to be supplied prospective tourists should clearly show the Okanagan route to the Coast as much as a part of the main highway as is the route through Kamloops and the Fraser Canyon. With the route now used there was general agreement.

Ralph Bulman, vice-president of the Vernon Board, and Harry Pout, of this city, both declared that it should be clearly understood that the main Trans-Canada would be the route now used. Otherwise, they said, there would be danger that the Okanagan would be passed by.

Dr. Bayne, in replying to the Vernon queries, said that the road via Grindrod would be the main route. But he admitted that the Trans-Canada group had been at the Coast and asked the Provincial government to build a bridge at Sicamous. Both Dr. Bayne and E. Beatty, of Chase, said the Bruhn highway, shortened travelling for main line residents, and should have a bridge built.

It was finally pointed out, after Mr. Harris pressed his point, that the road to Grindrod and Enderby is gazetted the main highway.

This difficulty appeared settled and the resolution was carried.

ARCHDEACON SOLLY'S DAUGHTER SUCCUMBS

SUMMERLAND, B. C., Dec. 5.—The death of Miss Dorothy Mary Solly, elder daughter of the Rev. Archdeacon H. A. Solly and Mrs. Solly, occurred on Wednesday in Tranquille Sanitarium, in her 27th year.

Miss Dorothy Solly attended school here at St. Michael's School at Vernon, and was at school in England. She was a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, and was a nurse at Summerland Hospital and Penticton Hospital. She also did nursing in hospitals at the Coast. Her ambitions had been curtailed for a number of years by ill health.

She is survived by her parents, the Rev. Archdeacon and Mrs. Solly, her sister, Mrs. Eric Randall of Trail, and by two brothers, Nicholas Solly, of Summerland, and Ivor Solly, of Trail.

Funeral services, which were very largely attended, were held from St. Stephen's Church, where the Rev. Archdeacon Solly was pastor, for many years, and were conducted by the present rector, the Rev. H. Pearson.

As I See It

STORY OF CHRIST'S BIRTH IS AGELESS, BEST EVER WRITTEN

By Elmore Phillips

In nearly all the important speeches nowadays there is talk about the possibility of civilization being wiped out in the event of another war. To me that seems a gross exaggeration. I do not believe that another world war would wipe out civilization any more than the war of 1914 wiped out civilization. Nevertheless such talk does make one wonder just what in our civilization is really worth preserving.

GOOD NEWS worth preserving. NEVER TOO OLD. One of the things which I would most hate to see wiped out from human history is the story of the birth of Jesus Christ, as told in the gospel of the birth of Christ. There is no other story ever told that has such a universal appeal and which gives such instantaneous satisfaction to the heart of the listener. No child who is old enough to talk sensibly is too young to understand the meaning of the story. As there is no heart in living breast so old, so cynical, or so hardened as not to believe or hope that the story is as true as anything ever written or told by man.

Incidentally, no story ever told has ever been better on paper or better told, by word of mouth. It has been told thousands of times as many times as any other story ever told by man. And it is still the favorite story for every nation that has heard it, in spite of every effort to eradicate it from the memory of human beings.

The whole meaning of this greatest story of the ages is that a King was born one day in the town of Bethlehem. He was born like any of the thousands of other children of his time. He was born before and since. This King was a king of hearts alone. He was a prince of peace. Men feel in their very heart of hearts that this story rings true because the only kind of a supreme being that satisfies their inmost sense of fitness is a supreme being as anxious for peace and goodwill among men as men themselves are anxious for those things in their better moments.

That is why that strange thing called the spirit of Christmas has come on conquering and to conquer. Dictators may put it under the ban and make it a misdemeanor to pay homage to the old story in the old way. But this year in Germany and Italy, Russia and Japan, hearts will be gladdened by the story as hearts were gladdened in the past. And the story will go on making young and old glad long after the present doings of war lords and dictators are but unhappy memories. The most powerful demonstration of the power of the Christmas message came to me during the war. When I arrived in France in January, 1916, our second Division were all full of the story of the unofficial armistice which had taken place on Christmas, 1915, on the Mount St. Eloi front.

It may have been because the night was clear and still like that night must have been 2,000 years ago at Bethlehem. It may have been because the men on both sides of that little narrow strip called the "trenches" were home sick, and thinking about the Christmas trees at home and filling the youngsters' stockings, and so forth. Or it may have been that standing there on guard with machine guns and rifles ready to kill the other fellows just idea violated the plain meaning of the angel's message at Bethlehem. At any rate the story says that suddenly from the German trenches there came the grand old German Christmas carol, "Silent Night, Silent Night, and then something happened. The boys in grey and the boys in khaki were all out of their trenches in a moment laughing and joking with one another, exchanging such treasures as they had, cigarettes and bits of Christmas cake and swigs of British rum for German brandy. "They looked just like us," our fellows said. It seems that they were Saxons.

It only lasted for a little while. In a few hours the business of killing and maiming and destroying was taken up on both sides with the same efficiency. And by next Christmas the generals on both sides of the line had taken elaborate precautions against a repetition of anything so scandalous and subversive of good order and military discipline.

But the episode always seemed prophetic. Some day the ordinary people in all countries will learn how to swarm out of the "trenches" into which they have been marched by the higher-ups in the governments of their own lands and the civil overlords. They will learn that they are human beings before they are Canadians, Englishmen, Germans, Frenchmen, Japanese, or Americans.

Hats off to the citizens of Nanaimo. When a large load of scrap iron was collected, HATS OFF TO ready for shipment to Japan, they formed a picket line and did their best to prevent the forwarding of the stuff. In the end they failed. But while they focussed the attention of the whole country on a crying scandal.

United States, Great Britain, Canada, and Australia are all signatories of the Nine Power Treaty which guarantees the territorial integrity of China. Yet Japan could not carry on her campaign for six months without the war supplies being purchased from our four countries. Take the case of lead alone. Canada and Australia between them supply over four-fifths of all the lead used by Japan. A complete embargo of shipments of war material to Japan would be almost as much help to China as would actual military intervention.

I talked a few months ago with a woman from another country who was visiting the Pacific coast. She studied the facts and figures of armament shipments to Japan from Canada. Her words to me were: "Sooner or later that metal will come back to Canada in the form of bullets in the bodies of our own sons and brothers."

Switzerland, the most democratic country in Europe, recently passed a law, designed to curb outspoken critics of the Hitler and Mussolini governments. Dictators may put it under the ban and make it a misdemeanor to pay homage to the old story in the old way. But this year in Germany and Italy, Russia and Japan, hearts will be gladdened by the story as hearts were gladdened in the past. And the story will go on making young and old glad long after the present doings of war lords and dictators are but unhappy memories. The most powerful demonstration of the power of the Christmas message came to me during the war. When I arrived in France in January, 1916, our second Division were all full of the story of the unofficial armistice which had taken place on Christmas, 1915, on the Mount St. Eloi front.

It may have been because the night was clear and still like that night must have been 2,000 years ago at Bethlehem. It may have been because the men on both sides of that little narrow strip called the "trenches" were home sick, and thinking about the Christmas trees at home and filling the youngsters' stockings, and so forth. Or it may have been that standing there on guard with machine guns and rifles ready to kill the other fellows just idea violated the plain meaning of the angel's message at Bethlehem. At any rate the story says that suddenly from the German trenches there came the grand old German Christmas carol, "Silent Night, Silent Night, and then something happened. The boys in grey and the boys in khaki were all out of their trenches in a moment laughing and joking with one another, exchanging such treasures as they had, cigarettes and bits of Christmas cake and swigs of British rum for German brandy. "They looked just like us," our fellows said. It seems that they were Saxons.

Single Jobless Stage "Sit-Down" at Edmonton

Nearly 100 single unemployed transients in Edmonton sought to bring their plight to the attention of authorities by taking possession of the Corona hotel lobby. One of the "sit-down strikers" (left) found a hotel chair more comfortable than the sort of accommodation to which he had been accustomed. The assembled strikers (right) listened as Police Chief A. C. Shute warned them against violence and told them they must vacate the hotel. The men stayed a couple of hours and fled out after a provincial relief branch official offered them jobs.

St. Andrew's Supper At Salmon Arm Very Well Attended Event

W. M. S. Of The Presbyterian Church Sponsor Program And Entertainment

SALMON ARM, B.C., Dec. 5.—The Institute Hall was filled to capacity Wednesday evening, November 30, when the annual St. Andrew's supper and concert was held under the auspices of W. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church.

To start the evening in a true Scottish manner the "Haggis", carried by Miss Margaret Inkster, dressed in Scottish costume, was piped in by Master H. Harvey and Miss E. Hollett. The "Toast to the Haggis" was given by J. Hyslop. After a very enjoyable supper the tables were cleared and the hall arranged for the very fine concert which followed.

Rev. C. H. Wycheley acted as chairman for the evening and opened the program with a few Scotch yarns. Other items on the program included selections on the pipes by Master Ian Inkster, Scotch dances by Margaret Inkster, solos by "Andy" Collier and Miss E. Harvey and Miss E. Hollett. The quartet comprised of A. Bedford, F. Wood, Mrs. M. M. Carroll and Miss E. Munro, recitations by Mrs. V. J. Field and a song and dance by little Miss Colleen Reader.

A short play, by F. Poole, Mrs. V. J. Field and Miss E. Munro, recitations by Mrs. V. J. Field and a song and dance by little Miss Colleen Reader. The large gathering then joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King."

The annual meeting of the W. A. of the United Church was held Thursday afternoon, December 1, at the manse. The various circles reported on their activities during the past year and a general report by the president showed that the year's efforts had been very successful, both financially and socially. In the election of officers for the coming year Mrs. A. Bedford, Sr., was re-elected president, Mrs. R. N. Bray, vice-president, Mrs. E. Maloney, secretary, and Mrs. A. Labron, treasurer. The executive will be comprised of the principal officers and representatives from the various circles. The ladies have a good sum of money on hand to commence their work for the new year.

Miss M. A. Lester, after an absence of some 30 years, left Wednesday for her old home in Ontario to be gone for at least three months. Before her departure the Sunday School of the United Church presented her with a suitable gift for her journey and the W. A. of the same church, in which she is a most active worker, made her a presentation of a travelling bag.

Mr. J. Kennedy, E. Burdell, E. R. Barlow, N. B. Richards and Allan Tweeddale left Friday morning on a hunting trip to the North Thompson district to be gone about ten days.

Despite Unpleasant Weather Event Was Very Well Attended

WINFIELD, B.C., Dec. 5.—The St. Margaret's Anglican Guild held a bazaar in the Winfield Community Hall on Wednesday of last week. In spite of an unpleasant day there was a good turn-out and a successful event was the result. A cake, donated by Mrs. Baalim, was raffled off by a weight guessing contest and was won by Mr. Anderson.

RECREATION CLUB AT OYAMA RE-OPENS SOON

Mrs. S. H. Darville Named President Of Group At Annual Meeting

OYAMA, B.C., Dec. 6.—The annual meeting of the Recreation Club was held on Wednesday, November 30. The business in hand was to elect officers for the coming season and to draw up a program of activities. Votes of thanks were proposed to the following who had done excellent work during the past season: Mrs. S. H. Darville, president; Stan Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Norman Davies, Peter MacDonald, Mrs. Davies and Don Dewar. Mrs. Darville and Stan Taylor were re-elected by acclamation. The president was greatly encouraged by the enthusiasm of the meeting and by the offer of help from many of the members. The idea behind the club is the training of the younger members to take an active part in the social and cultural life of their community, and to promote good feeling and social contact with members of other communities.

The following comprehensive program has been arranged for the winter months: "keep fit" class to be directed by Miss Gleave. This class will be open to all women from the age of 16 years and will meet each Thursday at the hall at 8:30 o'clock. First-aid, directed by Mrs. Norman Davies; Gordon Hall will direct a rifle club; a monthly entertainment and social will be held, and a small fee will be charged for all non-members, to help pay off the cost of the equipment. A donation of $5 was voted for this purpose out of the money in hand from last season. The winter season will open on Thursday, December 12, with an entertainment and social.

The Women's Institute held their annual bazaar at the Community Hall on Wednesday, November 30. The members are to be congratulated on the artistic arrangement of the stalls, and the decoration of the hall. Mrs. Dunagate and Mrs. Patullo were in charge of the 25-cent stall; Mrs. Edridge and Mrs. Tait sold plain and fancy needlework; Mrs. Evans and Mrs. A. S. Towgood ran the home-cooking stall; the gift stall was in charge of Mrs. Benton-Smith, Dorothy Taylor and Inez Patterson; and Mrs. Boy Enderbury and Miss Alice Towgood sold toys. Mrs. Orsuk served a very excellent tea. Mrs. Towgood, Mrs. Griffith, Miss Shirley Whipple and Steve Parker were the lucky gift winners. Mrs. Benton-Smith won the doll. Miss Lloyd gave her services in the role of fortune teller.

A very enjoyable card-party and dance, sponsored by the ice-hockey club was held on Friday, December 2, at the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Boat, relatives of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Towgood, have been on a hunting trip to the Okanagan. Mr. and Mrs. Towgood returned with them for a vacation in their old home at Olaner, California.

WARNING TO HUNTERS AND FISHERMEN

Each hunting season, through the careless handling of firearms, a number of people are seriously or fatally injured. The law protecting females of big game has been and is still in effect not only for the purpose of conservation, but also in order to prevent shooting at objects which the hunter does not clearly see. Fortunately this has greatly reduced these unfortunate accidents, although each year one or two hunters, generally through carelessness, are shot in mistake for deer. Hunters and fishermen have also been warned to be careful in setting fires, and to see that they are put out when breaking-up camp, but notwithstanding this fact, a number of forest fires have been attributed to the carelessness of fishermen and hunters.

Sportsmen desire to have hunting and fishing, then every precaution should be taken to see that firearms are handled in a proper and careful manner, and that any camp-fires are extinguished.

Intriguing Story Of Migration Told By Major Allan Brooks

Junior Board Of Trade Hears Excellent Talk On Natural Life

The migration of various animals and birds was the subject of a highly interesting address made before the Vernon Junior Board of Trade at their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening by Major Allan Brooks.

In opening his address, Major Brooks stated that while his remarks would need no profound concentration, the subject itself is very intriguing in that so little is yet known about many of its branches. However, he further stated, he did not intend to present the theory or cause of migration but merely the migrations made by various birds and animals.

When we think about migration, he said, we usually think about birds, but there are many other animals and insects that make great migratory journeys. As an instance of this there is the migration of the butterfly. While the butterfly is on the Mediterranean several years ago, Major Brooks stated that the ship he was on was followed by numerous birds that were migrating to their summer habitations and as these birds came to rest on the superstructure of the ship, hundreds of butterflies were seen to be travelling with the birds towards their final destination.

FISH TRAVEL FAR
Fish have tremendous migrations, the speaker continued. All eels of both Europe and America spawn in the ocean depths off the West Indies. A peculiarity about this is the fact that the eel, a fresh water fish, spawns in salt water and before it reaches its fresh water haunts in Europe it must cross the Atlantic, or to reach those in America it must follow the long Atlantic seaboard.

In his opinion, however, Major Brooks claimed, the most marvellous migration is that of the sperm whales. In their migration these mammals travel farther than any birds. It is now known that all the female sperm whales are in the south Atlantic off the coast of Africa and the bulls migrate from the North Pacific to these grounds and return every year. These whales have been traced by metal tags which are shot into the blubber and which are later recovered and reported by whalers. In passing on this topic, the speaker mentioned that immature whales of not more than 15 or 20 feet in length are being destroyed and that he was afraid this practice will spoil sperm fishing.

Another mammal with an interesting migration is the fur seal. The breeding grounds of this animal are found in the northern Pacific and the inner Bering Sea. The first to arrive at these grounds from the winter quarters are the bull seals but where the wintering grounds of the fur seal are, is still unknown. This, stated Major Brooks, shows what is still to be learned about migration.

FLY 3,000 MILES
In changing to the subject of bird migration, the speaker mentioned a species of gull that has an extraordinary migration. While in Australia a few years ago, he found that this species winter on the east side of that continent and to reach those grounds must travel more than 3,000 miles from North America.

All Arctic breeding shore birds, he stated, make long migrations. They fly alone, and an extraordinary thing about these birds is that in nine species out of ten the young birds are left in the Arctic areas alone and yet make their migrations, usually without accident.

However, he said, there are occasional accidents. In 1929 a large migration of lapwing was caught in strong gales over the Atlantic and was blown to the Newfoundland coast. A number of these birds drifted south as the weather grew colder and as winter closed in, but for the most part they remained where they were and starved to death. That is one reason why collectors and ornithologists, when they find a bird out of its own habitation, kill it. Such birds will not acclimatize themselves to the different conditions.

The barn swallow, in its migration, goes as far south as Northern Argentina and some that have been banded in England and Scotland have been found at the Cape of Good Hope. And yet every year this bird will return to the same nest it built the year before.

These were just a few of the examples presented by Major Brooks during his address but they illustrate what he wished to show, that there is still a great deal to be learned about the subject of migration. In closing he remarked that if anyone should find any of the aluminum survey tags with which birds are banded, they should be turned in to the nearest government office.

Following the address, the business of the Junior Board was limited to committee reports, and at the present time the project which is occupying the greater part of their interest is the "This Christmas Buy At Home" campaign.

CANADA-GERMANY APPLE TRADE
With a subnormal domestic apple harvest, Germany will have no difficulty in absorbing the full quantity of fresh and dried apples which are provided by the German-Canadian Payments Agreement, states the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Berlin. This agreement stipulates that all foreign exchange accruing from German exports to Canada shall be made available for the purchase of specified Canadian products by Germany. Five percent of the total, with an annual maximum value of $600,000, is earmarked for fresh apples and 95 percent, with a maximum value of $60,000, for dried apples.

PEACHLAND PIONEER, G. H. GREATA, IS DEAD

Was In Paris, France, During German Occupation Of 1870

PEACHLAND, B.C., Dec. 3.—One of Peachland's early residents, George H. Greata, died on Tuesday, November 29, aged 85. Mr. Greata, who was educated in France and was in Paris when it was occupied by the Germans in 1870, came to Peachland early in the century and bought up the Nash pre-emption south of town. He cultivated a large acreage and planted the orchard which became known as the Greata Ranch. When he disposed of this holding he retired to settle at Trepentier where he lived quietly until the time of his demise. He was greatly interested in community welfare, but disliked receiving recognition for his philanthropic work.

Funeral services were held from the Anglican Church, Monday, December 5, and interment was in the Lakeview cemetery. Mrs. Greata, 33 years of age, passed away Tuesday, November 29, after an illness in which he had been confined to his bed for three years. The last surviving member of a family of 15 he was born in March, 1865, in Upper Stewiackie, Nova Scotia. He left the old home in 1907 to come to Vancouver and later went back to Alberta, where he homesteaded at Michichi, north of Calgary. In 1917 he was married to Carrie B. Cox, of Upper Stewiackie, and the following year Mr. and Mrs. Greata came to Westbank where they lived until 1930, when they moved to Peachland.

He was an active worker in the United Church until failing health made it necessary to relinquish his position as a member of the Official Board. In spite of his long years of illness he was always cheerful and uncomplaining and will be greatly missed by his many friends here and at Westbank.

Funeral services were held from the United Church, December 2, with the Rev. J. Gilliam in charge of the service and interment was made in the Westbank cemetery. The W.A. of St. Margaret's Anglican Church held a most successful bazaar on Friday, December 2, with a fine display of needlework, home-cooking and novelties. A decorated Christmas tree was covered with good things for the children. Tea was served during the afternoon.

A good crew of volunteer workers on the job at the Athletic Hall was sided this week, which has made a great improvement to the appearance and the warmth of the building. Oiling is to be done to ensure a good job and preserve the lumber.

The first game of the basketball season gave the visiting Summerland girls' team a victory 23 to 14, on Wednesday evening. The local team started off in good form and were leading at half time 10 to 8 but the Summerland team got away from them in the latter part of the game to give them the victory.

A Book Review

"A NATURE LOVER IN BRITISH COLUMBIA"

By H. J. Parham

There are, every so often, books written about life in Canada. And frequently they prove to be disappointing in some respects. Hence one picks up what might appear to be yet another work of this general character with some misgivings. It is a matter for really hearty appreciation, therefore, when one finds a warm document, brim-full of lively stories and anecdotes, exuberantly illustrated and redolent of the very spirit of our own Okanagan. This book, published last year by H. F. and G. Wetherby, Ltd., of London, is "A Nature Lover in British Columbia," by H. J. Parham, and it has been gaining ever wider attention.

Mr. Parham has lived in the Vaseux Lake area for many years. A beautiful illustration of this lake, viewed from the distant and thrilling height of the McIntyre block, just above the irrigation dam for the Oliver project, forms the striking feature of the dust-cover of the book, and it also seems, in yet another subtle way, to suggest the character of the writing within.

In the distance may be seen the goose-nesting island, the big meadow where the ospreys nest, and part of the Parham ranch and range. These scenes, it might be said, would testify to the author's knowledge of the natural life of the area where he has resided. But also on the book in the picture are human figures, poised there and looking down on the great valley to the country below. It would seem in a way, to illustrate the author's own removed and detached human contemplation of what has gone on about him these many years. For though he does discuss the natural life of the valley with the intimate accuracy of a capable observer, he also views it as a philosopher with much ripe wisdom and he has a multitude of stimulating generalizations to offer, culminating in a powerful closing chapter. This, coupled with the interesting narrative of the events in his rambling life, makes for a much wider appeal than the title of the book would at first suggest.

There is some careful data, of course, such as well prepared notes on Okanagan mammals, fish, flora, and birds. But there is much else. "Banjo," the family dog; the beauty of Indian lore; even to the obscure "ant-lion"—these and a thousand other things are discussed—comments on the product of a lifetime of interest in an English family.

The frontpiece of the work offers the bird, Clarke's Nutcracker, from a drawing by Major Allan Brooks of Okanagan Landing, and the pages contain there is in it a wealth of further facts and anecdotes pleasing to any reader, and certainly to Okanagan readers in particular.

Reports Indignation

Editor, The Vernon News.

On your issue of November 17 you have two editorials bemoaning the plight of the farmer. Your assertion that "Newspapers cannot report indignation and demands for fair treatment, when there are no such demands," is accepted as an invitation to report my indignation.

You begin by intimating that the Lord helps those who help themselves, and end with these words, "There must be an answer, and when the Lord and Mr. Henry Ford, who see clearly, must give leadership." Oh for everything that we hold sacred! Henry Ford has certainly helped himself. But the Lord must be disgusted with him and when he sees him today, he will be how to squeeze their fellow men. They have led us to where we are now—the brink of eternity.

Mr. Ford's concern for the farmer goes up as dividends go down. How can the farmer be helped when shown us that big business neither desires nor encourages honest government. Sending out an S.O.S. to such a degrading class is not helping ourselves. If you value the wants of our nation, today you're putting up poor propositions.

Here you hit the nail. "Industrialists and importers make their weight felt, and have a firm hold on the money bags." Will Ottawa rob Peter to pay Paul, or will they take the bonus from the above mentioned money bags? I'm particular as to where mine comes from. In truth, when Canada starves, there is no butter surplus. Even the farmer dare not eat it, and the poorer the more they must deny themselves.

To maintain peace, a free flow of surplus wealth between nations is necessary. New Zealand is chiefly agricultural. If she takes our machinery, etc. we must take her goods. But the butter which we wish to export to England. We shut out New Zealand's and decrease our home markets, by closing machinery and automobile works. We force more New Zealand butter on the British market, and keep our out. Puppy-dogs chase their tails, but every time we chase our circumference diminishes. To what extent will the Canadian standard of living go up, by shutting out New Zealand trade? In the answer to this question lies the solution of this problem.

The Cream Collector is published to keep up the price of butter. Politics are forbidden. Public and private business are interdependent. We are told to keep more cows and make bigger records. We put more on the market, and presto! it goes the bottom and down goes the price. We expand production on a contracting market, then pray to parliament or pap.

"What we have been follows from afar. It's what we have been makes us what we are." Judging by what and where we are today, don't you think we need a new chart for the future? "We are on the verge of new duties," and surely the farmer has found out by now that our present economic structure is obsolete.

We do not need leaders; they are waiting for us. We need teamwork in the rank and file. The average farmer is blind to the fact that he has a public duty as well as a private one. He keeps his nose to the grindstone. The mortgagee to his nightmare. If he has true democracy, he must get it by organization. He will say he cannot afford to take the time. He cannot afford not to.

Our farm women have had a herring pulled across their trail. They are waiting time to give their best friend, the common Canadian housewife. She is fighting the profiteer, not the farmer. She is fighting for "porridge and milk, butter and potatoes" for her family. We don't have to go out of the Okanagan to hear her protest. Fight your system, not your sister. "A co-operative system, open to every citizen, democratically controlled, creates no monopoly or vested interest. It satisfies the demand for increased efficiency. It constitutes a bulwark against profiteering."

I blame no single person. The blame lies mostly on ourselves. This is my expression in action of my idea of the past with a hope for the future of our part of Canada at least, will be founded henceforth on justice, and respect for all races and all creeds.

In conclusion I am bound to thank you for your editorial, also thank you for having removed the facade, and given us a glimpse of what lies behind it.

"THE CITADEL" IS BROUGHT TO SCREEN

"The Citadel" based on the novel by Dr. A. J. Cronin, has been brought to the screen in a notable picture which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Friday and Saturday, December 9 and 10.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer produced this film at its British studio in Denham, England, with Robert Donat and Rosalind Russell in the leading roles. A cast of more than 100 players appears in support, principal among them the well-known English players Ralph Richardson, Rex Harrison, Emyln Williams and Penelope Dudley-Ward.

The surgeon's fight to retain his ethical code, his love for the schoolmistress and their struggles together in adversity and wealth, combine to form a work rich in emotional power and dramatic intensity.
